35 CHILDREN KILLED WHEN DYNAMITE SCHOOL

Bath, Mich., May 18.—At least 35 little children and five grown persons were killed today when an insane farmer set off a terrific blast which wrecked the district school here. Although a complete check was impossible, it was estimated that between 40 and 90 children were injured. State police found 500 pounds of dynamite in the basement of the school, which had been crudely wired with caps and fuses attached.

MADEIROS MAY CHEAT DEATH CHAIR; 'WASTING AWAY' AFTER COLLAPSE

Celestino Madeiros, condemned murderer and one of the hopes of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense, is "wasting away" in prison and may not live to go to his doom in the electric chair, from which he has four times been saved by clemency.
Governor Fuller, who today interviewed at least one important defense witness in his investigation of the Sacco-Vanzetti problem, is said to be considering interviewing Madeiros in the prison.
Having already conferred with several government witnesses, the Governor called to his office today Wilbur P. Turner, forensic expert, who at one of the new trial hearings given Sacco and Vanzetti testified that the death bullet produced by the State could not have been fired from Sacco's gun.
The death gun assumed a leading role in the investigation with Turner's visit and with a statement from a source close to the Governor that Associate Chief Justice Phillips would not be interviewed by the State could not have been fired from Sacco's gun.

DID NUNGESSER PERISH HERE?

WHERE WRECKAGE WAS SEEN
Crew of liner Bellefonte reported on reaching Hub that part of plane supposed to have been flown by French aces in dash to U. S. was found about 100 miles off Boston.

Andrew Kehoe, farmer and school trustee, had placed the explosive there and spent the night in wiring it. He attached the fuse to the engine of his automobile and set off the blast by firing a shot from a rifle into the hay where the principal of the school started toward him today.

Investigation also revealed, State police said, that Kehoe had touched off the charge by firing his high-powered rifle into a box of the explosive on the rear seat of his automobile.

Kehoe, police said, apparently had worked during the night stacking the dynamite in the building and wiring the charges. Shortly after the school session started he was seen driving in front of the school.
He then strung a wire from the basement of the building to the engine of his car. His fuses had been crudely manufactured from rifle shells, several of which were found near the shattered automobile.

The chief differences are between Lloyd Bertaud, the "Columbia" navigator, and Charles Levine, head of the company backing the flight. Dissension had arisen to such pitch last night that Bertand had expressed his position in a telegram to Levine, although they were both staying at the same hotel. He offered to forego his entire share of the prize money for the privilege

Levine was known to be making tentative negotiations to get another navigator, but said that whether Chertaud went along or not Clarence Chertaud would remain as pilot.

Leutenant Bert Balchen, a Norwegian aviator, who accompanied Commander Richard E. Byrd on his flight to the North Pole, had been offered Bertaud's place, but declined to forgo Bertaud out of the flight.

Bertaud in his telegram also offered to purchase the Columbus, make the trip and then return.

Another offer to buy the plane was made yesterday when Thomas L. Hill, president of the American Society for the Promotion of Aeronautics, offered $100,000 for it.

GOODWIN RAPS 'CASE-FIXING' OUT OF COURT

Worcester, May 14.—Boston's traffic congestion is costing the city $100,000 a day, according to Dr. Miller Goodwin, director of the Engineering Bureau of Harvard University.

Dr. Goodwin and Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin were principal speakers at the meeting of the Worcester Safety Council held in the Hotel Bancroft.

"It is said that in Chicago the daily cost of congestion is $400,000. It is probable that in Boston the burden is not less than $100,000 a day," said Dr. Goodwin. "A small fraction of this daily cost will provide adequate engineering service for a year."

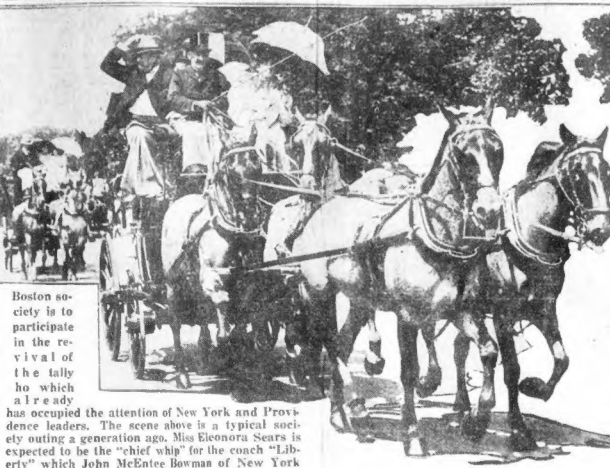

Registrar Goodwin in his address, attacked the practice of "fixing" traffic law violations while they are in the hands of the police and before they reach court.

The time has come for every official in charge of a police department to put his feet down on all fixing, and when this is done and until then will automatically cause moving dead-end citizens on the highway," the registrar declared.

The attack on the "fixing" automobile cases was made after Registrar Goodwin told the audience cases have come to his attention where

LIVES IN ATTIC AND WORKS IN A FACTORY

Refused to leave and went from a home of wealth and comfort, Mrs. Eleonora D'Alessandro, widow of the late Countess D'Alessandro, head of the first "Carnegie" Trust, is living in a factory and working in a mean garment factory.

Historic Attorney Robert T. Russell of Middlesex County told Judge McGuire today in Norfolk Superior Court.

According to counsel for the elderly widow, the Massachusetts attorney appeared in the court for an allowance to Mrs. D'Alessandro out of a $15,000 bank deposit in Suffolk County and $10,000 in real estate.

Russell declared that the $100 a year allowance left the widow under the terms of the will in not sufficient to live on. He asked the court to order the bank to pay the widow $100 a month and to order the real estate to be sold.

The widow contended the will, although it was made in the presence of the testatrix, was not valid. She said that the testatrix, Mrs. D'Alessandro, was in poor health and that she was not of sound mind when she made the will. She said that the testatrix was in the hands of the testatrix's attorney and that she was not of sound mind when she made the will.

TALLY-HO WILL BE FEATURE AT SHOW

Revival of the "coach and four" is under way.

It's the very last word in social recreation among members of the smart sets of Boston, Providence and New York. The summer will see a less percentage than Eleonora Sears as "chief whip" according to reports.

John McEntee Bowman of New York and Part Chester, N. Y., is leading the famous coach "Liberty" in the Jacobs Hill Hunt, and Miss Sears is expected to be the "chip" in many of the regular runs between them and the exclusive Tops Club in Providence.

Mrs. Robert B. Almy, the former Rosemond Almy, is another advocate of coaching and may hold the reins on some of the club runs.

The "Liberty" will make its first appearance at the Jacobs Hill Hunt show next Saturday. Later, in June, with two days of racing at the Country Club, coaches and four may be features of the occasion.

William H. Vanderbilt, who has inherited the "coach and four" from his grandfather, and Alfred Gayne Vanderbilt, will drive at some of the shows. E. Ambrose Clarke and Henry Worcester Smith, of Roxbury, Worcester, are among others now sponsoring the coach and four.

BENTLEY CAN'T SAY HE HELPED SUPPORT SON

John M. Bentley, defendant in a separate support suit in Middlesex Probate Court, today could not remember whether or not he ever contributed a cent to the support of the child, Jack, Jr., after he and his wife separated in 1922. Bentley has a cross-suit seeking a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

In Middlesex Probate Court the witness stands while testifying, but Bentley lounged against the railing. In the afternoon Bentley resumed his lounging. "Mr. Bentley, can't you stand up on your feet?" the wife's attorney, Louis L. Boutwell, asked him.

"Yes, sir," the athlete replied and after that stood firmly on his feet. Bentley identified a card in sent him in 1922.

"Dear Ethel I would like to get June a little while over for work end. This is only his father's suit as all the holidays are to come during your time to have him. I can secure him by other means as he is still child. You can tell me, Ethel, if you wish. Why can't we be friends, anyway? I love you still, regardless of how you feel," the note read.

"Did you ever contribute one penny toward the support of your son from the time your wife left you under the court order was made?" Bentley was asked.

"Frankly, I don't remember," was the witness' answer.

Bentley denied vehemently that he ever tried to turn his son against his wife. Bentley testified "Mr. Bentley" had no bank account or no savings account.

MANY OPPOSE B.-M. TRANSFER PROPOSAL

Thousands were turned down today by traffic experts and street police and fire department officials on the Boston & Maine Transportation Company proposal to abandon its present system of harbor lighters and substitute a system of truck transfers through Atlantic avenue.

The freighting was at the hearing before Attorney-Examiner John McChord of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the traffic experts asserted more trucks will mean only further congestion in the avenue.

Captain Bernard J. Hogue, traffic police chief, said that the proposal would mean more trucks on the streets, more congestion, and more accidents.

The proposal was also opposed by Eugene D. Hurry, traffic manager of Jordan Marsh and C. F. Hovey companies, who said an increase in trucks on the streets would mean more congestion and more accidents.

A colorful naval wedding was observed in Boston College chapel today when a Maltese girl became the bride of a Pacific Coast naval officer.

The bride was Miss Louise Powers, youngest daughter of former Pacific Coast naval officer, Lieut. Edwin R. Gallagher, now stationed with the Pacific fleet at Newport.

The last man was Lieutenant Harry Gallagher, brother of the bridegroom and also a naval officer, while the nation of honor was his wife, who is a sister of the bride. Miss Mary E. Powers of Malden was the bridesmaid.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. Louis S. Gallagher, S. J., of the college faculty, assisted by the Rev. Father Daniel Cronin, the Rev. Father W. J. Casey of St. Patrick's Church, Quincy, and the Rev. Mr. Richard Nagle of Boston.

BOY IS DYING 3 MINUTES AFTER HE STEALS CAR

Within three minutes of the time when, police allege, he stole an automobile in front of the South Station today, Patrick Tracy, 24, of 25 street, South Boston, was lying in the roadway on Summer street, suffering from possible fatal injuries sustained when the automobile struck a high curb.

He is reported in a critical condition at the City Hospital with multiple cuts and lacerations to the head and neck, a fractured rib, and a possible internal injury.

The car is the property of Frederick Sanger of 77 Ruggles street, Quincy, a former agent at the South Station. The crash occurred on Summer street in front of the Edison power plant, a short distance from the new street bridge.

Traveling at high speed, police said, the machine struck the curb and struck a high curb, striking the ground and his head. He was picked up by constables and taken to the hospital in a police ambulance from Station 4.

Since last Monday, Royal K. Collins of No. 11 Chapman street, Watertown, has been seeking the three children who were taken from his home when he had been lured outside under a pretext.

He suspected his former wife and finally located her, living with her second husband, John Garrick, 100 years her junior, at No. 20 Hancock street.

A warrant was issued and the raid was made. But the heart-broken father had not yet recovered his children for they were not with their mother and step-father, Mrs. Garrick finally broke down and told the police that she had placed them with a friend at No. 21 Irving street, West End.

'SNK' CARRIER LANGLEY IN WAR GAME

Newport, R. I., May 18.—First blood in the gigantic war game went when the Langley, airplane carrier of the attacking "Black fleet," was put out of action 117 miles southwest of Block Island by torpedoes launched from the destroyer Launce of the small defending sea squadron.

Most of the 28 airplanes of the attackers were rendered useless by the crippling of the Langley, seriously handicapping the invaders in their plans for making the rich industrial region of New England.

The destroyer fired six torpedoes at the Langley from a distance of 100 yards and scored two hits. It was reported that the carrier was threatened by rendered useless for the remainder of the maneuvers.

Major-General Preston Brown, who as commander of the defense army is also in supreme command of the defensive fleet, was materially aided in his defense operations by this vital blow at the enemy's air forces.

Submarines of the "Blue" established the first contact with the enemy when the S.S. 210 and S.S. 212 sighted the U. S. S. Annapolis, flagship of the enemy submarine force, No. 1 and the U. S. S. Maury of the "Black" mine-baiting squadron.

Report was made to the command by the U. S. S. Glimmer and the torpedo attack on the Langley followed soon afterward.

About an hour and a half before opening fire on the carrier, the Langley reported sighting two mine layers, seven destroyers, two air craft carriers and four submarines.

A concerted attack at some point between Chatham and the Connecticut River is expected after dark when the "Black" forces are expected to try to land their troops, invaders, at present aboard transports somewhere at sea.

While the first actual combat engagements were in progress, Brown took a few minutes off to welcome to Fort Adams, general headquarters here. Admiral Arthur C. Coss of Rhode Island.

Bitter Cold Gale! Sleet and a wire snaps!

"Wires Down"—Every winter that's the regular, familiar headline, in the daily papers. The tiny flow of electric current stops. Lamps, candles hastily substitute for the incandescent light.

But with fuel that depends on electric current for its operation—it is entirely different.

You cannot have a substitute heating plant tucked away for emergencies. You must wait until repairemen brave the gale and the drifts and once more restore the power line.

Even if it is only for a day—think of the discomfort—the actual danger—to which you expose yourself and your family.

Guard against impulsiveness in deciding on your fuel. Get all the facts. Learn both sides. Realize that once you have decided—shifting is no easy or inexpensive matter.

Coal is an independent, self-sufficient fuel. Your heating plant burning coal is self-contained. It depends on nothing else for its operation. Let storms rage—let wires fall—your home is secure in its warmth and comfort.

Talk things over with your regular coal dealer. Coal is a PROVEN fuel—proven safe, dependable, economical. Talk the problem over with your family doctor—get the health side of it from him.

50 MISSING IN FLOODED TOWN OF MELVILLE

New Orleans, May 15 (A.P.)—With seven miles inland and the waters from breaks in the Atchafalaya River and Bayou des Glaises have constantly covering more territory, residents of south central Louisiana today helplessly watched the greatest flood in the history of the State as it moved toward the Gulf of Mexico.

As yet undetermined number of lives have been lost and prospects are that many more will perish before the waters finally subside.

At Melville, 120 miles northwest of New Orleans, on the Atchafalaya River, where the most serious break occurred, ten negroes were reported drowned. The fate of forty persons at this plantation, near Melville, was not known here. They were thought to have been trapped in the swamps.

SAW THREE DROWN.

W. T. Clark, a rescue worker of Alexandria, credited with saving 142 persons in the Bayou des Glaises section, reported the drowning of a man and his two sons. Clark said he removed the mother from the roof of a floating house and before he could reach the others the house capsized and they were swept away.

Army engineers said that twenty families were covered in whole or in part by the flood waters and that approximately 2,500,000 acres had been inundated. To the North of Bayou des Glaises flood waters still poured down the river, parallel between the Atchafalaya and Old River. Approximately 1,000 square miles were inundated in that area, it was estimated.

LOW RIVER FLOOD.

Below Bayou des Glaises an area of 20 square miles has been flooded. Inhabitants on the east bank of Atchafalaya have covered 250 square miles, mostly marsh land, in their peril.

Two thousand men working in twelve-hour shifts were fighting to save the levee at Metairie on the East bank of the Atchafalaya, opposite W. W. W. and 120 miles northwest of New Orleans.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced the need of additional troops. He sent Coast Guard and other rescue boats to the river, near the mouth of Old River.

Boston Red Cross Fund

for Flood Now $261,000

Washington, May 18 (U.S.N.S.)—The Red Cross flood relief drive has netted a total of $17,400,000 up to 10 a. m. today, it was announced at national headquarters here.

The Boston Red Cross fund for Mississippi River flood sufferers continues to mount steadily, about $72,000 being received in the past 24 hours. The total fund raised by the Metropolitan Chapter, today, totals $181,573.10. Among the recent contributions were the following:

UNDERTAKER IS EXONERATED IN WINTHROP

Complete exoneration was today given Charles R. Bonham, Winthrop undertaker and chairman of the board of trade, who was recently suspended as superintendent of cemeteries in the Winthrop town.

Bonham was given a clean bill of health by the Winthrop Board of Cemetery Commissioners, following their receipt of a report from Theodore N. Waddell, State Director of Cemeteries.

The State report disclosed that there were no irregularities in Bonham's accounts, and that he had even expended regularly for town purposes money which he was authorized to retain in his salary.

The commissioners were criticized for not installing an up-to-date system of accounts, as previously recommended by State auditors.

The report of Director Waddell embodied a report by Edward H. Fenton, chief examiner for the State Department, who pointed out that Bonham assumed virtually all the administrative duties which the commissioners were supposed to perform.

From January 1, 1920, to April 30, 1921, it was reported, Bonham collected $2,543.24 in fees for various services to cemetery lot-holders and was authorized to keep this entire amount as his pay, but instead he used $1,045.96 to meet expenses of his department.

ASPARAGUS CROP IS

DAMAGED BY HAIL

Springfield, May 18 (A.P.)—Hail which later in the season is an annual plague to Connecticut Valley tobacco growers, has done heavy damage to asparagus growers in this vicinity within the last few days.

Let Me Explain My Position In the Piano Business

And Why My
Prices Are So Low
J.P. Collins

OPEN EVENINGS TILL 9

100 Summer St.

(Corner Devonshire)

I AM asked every day by big business men how I can afford to sell pianos at such astonishingly low prices—some are under the impression that I manufacture pianos, and that I have some special piano of my own that I am pushing on the market. I do not manufacture pianos—neither do I push any special make of piano—I am no manufacturer's man—neither am I interested in selling any particular piano.

I play no favorites. I go out into the open piano market with my cash and buy any and all makes that I can buy low enough to give my customers a great bargain. And it has to be a great bargain. My business would not last a month if I did not give great bargains. People would not come to me unless they got a far better bargain than the other piano dealers give them. I probably have the biggest exhibit of the different makes for the people's selection. I, no doubt, sell more pianos than any retail dealer in the city. During my business career I have sold many thousands of pianos. Just think of it—many thousands of pianos. I do such a big business in pianos because I sell the best at always the lowest prices.

This Big Sale is a Demonstration of High Piano Values at the Low Prices That Have Made J. P. Collins the Most Talked About Piano Dealer in New England.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY EVENTS

Miss Honora Winthrop Mason to Exchange Wedding Vows With John Winston in Bernardsville, N. J., a Week From Saturday.

QUITE THE MOST BRILLIANT OF HYMENAL EVENTS in May will be Miss Honora Winthrop Mason's marriage to John Winston. As the wedding vows are exchanged down in Bernardsville, New Jersey, Boston shines only by reflected glory—but of that there will be sufficient to light several social heavens. The bride's Boston lineage is of the deep aureole hue that spells pride and place and distinction, and the greater number of her attendants are Boston girls. So Boston's interest is first hand.

THEY ARE OFF FOR BERNARDSVILLE TOMORROW WEEK. This local set of bride attendants. They arrive at the New Jersey town just in time for Miss Mason's dinner given to her bridal party on Thursday, May 16, two evenings before the wedding day itself. Friday evening Miss Jane Brady of New York, the fiancée of Frederick Strong Stowley, Jr., of Boston, is hostess for a pre-wedding dinner, and later that same evening Mrs. Pierpont gives a ball, also for the bridal company.

MISS MARY HOLDEN, DEBUTANTE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND Mrs. Joshua B. Holden, Miss Esther Underwood, Miss Constance Percival, Miss Susan Hammond and Miss Jean Sears are in the Boston group that will precede Miss Mason up the aisle on the 25th, and they all go down to Bernardsville together, to be house guests at the Pierpont establishment in the smart New Jersey environment.

THE BRIDE-ELECT IS EVEN NOW DOWN IN BERNARDSVILLE, in deep in bridal preparations. The solemn pledges of matrimony will be given in St. Bernard's Church, and then there is a reception at "Little Cluestield," the country home of the bride's uncle, Grafton Winthrop Minot. The Mason-Minot family tree is affixed with leaves bearing important names, the Lindalls and the Masons and the Winthrops. Mr. Winston brings to the alliance a notable Gotham line. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Winston, of New York and Gladstone, N. J.

IT IS REALLY QUITE CLEVER OF THE DEBUTANTE SET TO stage a very last dance at this time. Just before "everyone" leaves for summer homes or takes ship for Europe the bids of 1927-78 gather at the Country Club for one final fling. Miss Jessie Hanover's dinner this evening, before the dance, is one of the largest of preliminary festivities. She and other prominent girls arranging the dance are Miss Elsie Lawrence, Miss Anne Ayer, Miss Virginia Ayres and Miss Emily Davis.

FOR THE SECOND TIME THE CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN CLUB'S tea dances, at the Copple-Place, writes itself down merely successful. Stage celebrities let their lustrous shine upon the occasion, and society matrons did the honors of the receiving line. It appears that the club's mission is sure to be fulfilled, and everyone is looking forward to next Autumn's renewal of these pleasant hospitalities.

MRS. ALVAN TUTTLE FULLER, HANDSOME IN BEIGE AND carrying an arm cluster of roses, adorned the receiving line. Mrs. Edwin Farnham Greene, in black with touches of silver, Mrs. Ezra Thayer, Miss Polly Thayer and Miss Mary Post came in together to the tea-dance. And that attractive girl who is a bride-to-be, Miss Rosamond Reed, looked in on the festive scene. Mrs. F. B. Clive, youthfully attractive, was in a smart frock that combined black crepe and bright prints most effectively. Mrs. Clive and her actor-manager husband are sailing late in May for a summer on the other side, their usual custom.

IT IS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION THAT YOUNG NATHANIEL CLARK will be a "fin golf" player in years to come, if parental training and inheritance count for anything. He is a son of J. Dudley Clark, at one time the most talked of polo player in these United States. Polo at Iddaham is bringing out the veteran and some minor talent to train up the younger element in the proper polo way than Mr. Clark. He is often out on his favorite pony, "High Ball," for the practice at Iddaham. Of course, Nathaniel Clark aims to equal the record of his father—such is the high goal he sets for himself.

formed an association to trade in stocks and made a solemn agreement, faithfully kept, "not to buy or sell any kind of public stock for a less commission than a quarter of one per cent."

THAT WAS the beginning of New York's Stock Exchange, when George Washington was President and Hamilton was Secretary of the Treasury.

Twenty-five years later the Exchange had a roof over its head. W. B. Wadsworth, still active, bought his seat in 1849 for $1,000. Two seats were sold this week for $210,000 each. Nice profit. But had Mr. Wadsworth invested his $1,000 judiciously in New York City real estate in 1849 he would now be as rich as Rockefeller.

STANDARD OIL of Indiana announced yesterday the purchase from Henry and Edsel Ford of a huge, all metal, three-engine monoplane, "to provide for its officials to outlying oil regions."

The time of a good oil man is worth more than the price of several airplanes. Perhaps Standard Oil will contribute to American flying on its own account and build that "real flying machine" which Henry Ford suggests—to cost $1,000,000.

PRINCE MISTISLAV GALITZINE, twenty-six years old, says that Almee Crocker, wealthy California woman, aged fifty-three, "bought him for a husband," agreeing to pay him $150 a month for life. That really is not "buying," only renting.

The pay seems small, for a real Prince. One American father-in-law paid seven millions cash to a Duke that married his daughter, and the Duke didn't stay married.

Galitzine's ancestors would be interested in their descendant's way of earning a living.

THE TINY Republic of Andorra, tucked away in the Pyrenees, with about 5,000 inhabitants, has paid its annual tribute of 1,400 francs, $56, to the President of France and to the Spanish Bishop of Urgel, in Spain.

FOR SIX HUNDRED and forty-nine years, the little Republic has paid its comic tribute to earthly and heavenly powers, and lived free and happy in its mountain valley.

We, in America, never paid much attention to it. But now Andorra has sent us, from some cottage on the mountainside, Mr. Paulino Ucedo, big and strong, who thinks he can take the heavyweight prize fight championship from Tunney. That does interest us.

WHEN UNCLE SAM advertises, he ADVERTISES. The treasury announcement, recasting $1,550,000,000 of second Liberty Loan four and a quarter per cent. bonds will be published in fifteen thousand American newspapers, daily and weekly. Mr. Mellon shows good judgment, putting the advertising in

PUTS BLAME FOR UPRISING ON NATIVE AUTHORITIES

Manila, May 13 (A.P.)—Blame for the rise of the "revolt" of the Philippine Islands was placed today upon the shoulders of the provincial and municipal officials of the Visayas Islands by Governor-Ogden Wood in a report to Washington. He declared the authorities failed to prevent gathering of large groups of armed men. He praised his aide-camp, Major Burton T. Read, for "preventing conflict."

BOSTON PLANTS ARE VISITED BY AUSTRALIANS

Representatives of leading industries, employers and employees of Australia, were the guests of the Boston Chamber of Commerce today after an extended tour of inspection of Greater Boston factories and stores.

The group, accompanied by two women observers, are touring the United States for the purpose of studying and investigating factory methods and working conditions.

The morning was given over to an inspection of the Hosiery House Company plant at Lynn. In the afternoon they visited the store of William Plim's shoe company and planned to inspect at least one plant before leaving tomorrow morning for New York.

Richard J. Murphy, industrial secretary of the Commonwealth of Australia, was official leader of the party. With him were M. P. Campbell, soap manufacturer of Brisbane; M. E. Gray, brass founder of Melbourne; C. Ludovick, helmet manufacturer of Sydney; A. J. McNeill, lumberman of Perth; Edward O'Donnell, general secretary of the Australian Workers Union; A. McMillan, labor leader of Adelaide; C. J. Munro, secretary of the Australian Society of Engineers; J. C. Valentine, state president of the Locomotive Engineering and Firemen Association of Brisbane; Miss May Matthews, inspector of the Child Welfare Department of New South Wales; Dr. Kate McKay, woman medical inspector of factories for Victoria; H. C. Allen of the United Cable Service; and L. P. Davis of the Australian Press Association.

HINDU MIND READER

STIRS GREAT INTEREST

Rajah Rajah, the Hindu mind reader at the Washington Street Olympia this week, is drawing so many eager questioners to the theatre that he is unable to cope with them all. At the first matinee Monday the Rajah could not answer all the questions he asked of the audience. He arranged to have the people wait on the mezzanine floor until he could get there from the stage and answer their questions. The result was that nearly every person in the audience went to the mezzanine floor.

"WOMEN" MOST POPULAR STUDY AT PRINCETON

Princeton, N. J., May 13.—Whatever else they may be undecided about, Princeton seniors are agreed on one point—they would rather study "women" than anything in college. The senior class vote, made public today, said so. But, two of one, they would not marry for money. Thirty men admitted they had been "turned down" once by some fair damsel, but 23 declared they had never given a lady a chance. Thirteen out of 470 voted announced their engagement.

And speaking of women—the boys prefer Smith to all women's

MORE WAGE REDUCTIONS ANNOUNCED IN ITALY

Rome, May 13 (A.P.)—Two new regional wage reduction agreements between Fascist employers and employees were announced today. Fiat workers at Turin, important Italian shipping centre, accepted an average reduction of nearly 20 per cent. Cotton mill workers at Spilato accepted a 15 per cent. cut, the companies guaranteeing not to reduce the days or hours of labor.

TAKE 96 BALLOTS TO ELECT COUNCILLOR

Attleboro, May 13 (A.P.)—After 96 ballots in an attempt to elect a councillor to fill a vacancy on the board, the Municipal Council, at 3 a. m. today, made ex-officio John A. Traver their unanimous choice. Miss Annie Wheeler, city clerk, had charge of the balloting during the tedious session.

NAMED WRONG YACHT CLUB

The Boston Yacht Club, not the South Boston Yacht Club, was the rendezvous for George B. Doane, wealthy Brooklyn publisher, and Mrs. Florence Doane, also of Brooklyn, according to testimony in North Probate Court, at Dedham, yesterday.

Testimony between Doane and Mrs. Doane, who is named by Mrs. Doane as Doane in her suit for separate maintenance, were described in court by Francis N. Williams of South Boston, whose home is across the street from the alleged rendezvous.

Because of similarity in the names of the yacht club, and the fact that both are located on the strand near South Boston, the judge erroneously stated that the South Boston Yacht Club was described in Williams' testimony. The Boston Yacht Club is the correct name of the club designated by the witness.

Runyon Picks Maloney to Win by K. O.

By DAMON RUNYON

New York, May 18.—In my opinion, the best two heavyweights in the country, with the possible exception of Mr. Tunney, the eminent champion, go to the post Thursday night at the Yankee Stadium—Edward James Maloney and Josef Guscosky, otherwise Jack Sharkey.

BOTH AT PEAK OF FORM

I doubt if two heavyweights as good as these have ever appeared in the ring before.

Damon Runyon

Maloney is a real fighter. He has the heart of a lion and the skill of a champion. He has been in the ring for years and has won many fights. He is a real champion and he is going to win this fight. Sharkey is a real fighter. He has the heart of a lion and the skill of a champion. He has been in the ring for years and has won many fights. He is a real champion and he is going to win this fight.

Gene Tunney to Cover Maloney-Sharkey Bout for the Boston Evening American

American will be published giving full details of the battle.

For those fans who want to get the blow-by-blow account of the bout, the Boston Evening American will have an announcer magazine the results to the crowd in Winthrop square in front of the Boston Evening American office.

In the Home Edition, Friday, two full pages of pictures will be published with Ed Kealey, South Boston heavyweight, and Henry LaMar, former amateur champion, illustrating the thrilling moments of the bout.

As soon as actual pictures of the fight are over from New York they will replace the Kealey-LaMar posed pictures.

The Biggest and Best Account of the Maloney-Sharkey Fight Will Be Found Only in the Boston Evening American. Be Sure You Read It

A PART TO PLAY

There stood a man and a woman, a man in a blue suit and a woman in a blue dress, both looking at each other with a look of surprise. The man was looking at the woman, and the woman was looking at the man. They were both looking at each other with a look of surprise. The man was looking at the woman, and the woman was looking at the man. They were both looking at each other with a look of surprise.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.

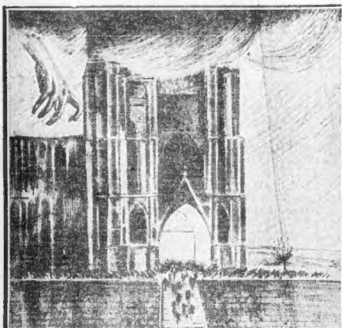

3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Force, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

'Music Can Reproduce All'

No Words or Pictures Can Reproduce the Power of MUSIC

Beethoven, who died one hundred years ago, was the greatest of all musicians that have ever lived and is recognized as such universally.

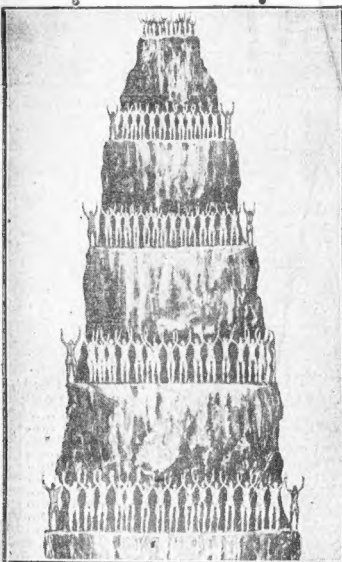

His greatest music was written in his old age, when he was totally deaf, conducting the orchestra playing his music by watching the bow of the first violin. Of the greatest music that he ever wrote he never heard one note, except as he heard it in his magnificent brain.

Tell that to your atheist friend who says there is no soul, and that when we are dead we are dead forever. It would take an extraordinary "machine" or "fortuitous concurrence of atoms," as some atheists describe the human being, to duplicate Beethoven's performance.

"FROM HIM WHO STRUGGLES"

The two pictures in this column are made by an Austrian artist, Arthur Ponzen, in an effort to reproduce in PICTURES Beethoven's work and the effect it produces upon the human mind.

The first picture is supposed to represent Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony." The other represents the "Ninth Choral Symphony," written when Beethoven was absolutely deaf. In the first picture the artist, seeking to suggest the mighty effect produced by the "Fifth Symphony," shows a great cathedral, the crowds pouring in, and a hand, perhaps that of Beethoven, coming down from the sky.

The second picture expresses well human aspiration, and the striving for the best and the highest that is in all of Beethoven's works. In it you see human beings reaching upward, higher and higher, and at last at the top, still reaching toward the sky. The appropriate words put under this picture are Goethe's: "From Him Who Struggles to Aspire We Do Not Hold Salvation."

Music can express everything—hate, fear, love, fury, of the tempest, the advance of marching armies.

Music is the OLDEST expression of intellectual power. Men sang, or uttered rhythmic sounds to accompany their dancing and their love-making before complete language was established.

As the oldest form of intellectual expression music is the most highly developed. Unfortunately we have records of music only since the Middle Ages.

All the music of ancient Greece, of Rome and the earlier days is lost to us because men had invented no way to write music down on paper. Written speech came long before written music.

All Nervy Citizens Aren't Aviators

By Franklin Collier

EVEN PRESIDENT CAN USE SHORTHAND

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE is much more reason for a person learning shorthand now than there ever was in any previous time in our history. The demand is greater. There is a constant cry going up from business men asking for competent assistants. They appeal to colleges and institutions of learning to give them material for private secretaries.

The typewriter has enormously increased the business of writing letters, but the shorthand secretary is even more in demand.

The head of a business finds himself overloaded with the making of speeches, the attendance of conferences and other things incidental to big business. He needs somebody who knows all the details of his office. Nobody is so well equipped to attend to this as one who knows shorthand.

Instead of being merely a clerk's job with no prospects of advancement, it is a place in which one can advance rapidly.

When a manager of a new department or someone else in a responsible position is needed, it is natural for the boss to turn to one who knows all the details of his business, and the shorthand secretary is the logical candidate.

Of course, shorthand is not everything. Nothing can take the place of efficiency and personality. But shorthand is a very good staff to lean upon, and no one is the worse for it.

In these days, when the art has been brought to perfection, the method of learning shorthand is much more simplified. It is by the efforts of Mr. Gregg and others that the science of shorthand has been made easier to learn and quicker to practice.

If one may devote his time to it for a while and give to it all his energy, he will be securing an aid which will stand him in good stead in many instances.

A recent article in the Saturday Evening Post, "Getting On in the World," says:

"If you allow your vision to be limited to the point of your pencil and you keep your addition, as the radio operator would say, attuned only to the sound of your typewriter and the vocalization of the dictating machine, stenography will not do you much good. But if you take up stenography with a definite purpose, with a willingness at all times to do more than your employer literally expects of you, and you possess the ability to see beyond the limitations of your present job, you will succeed in the secretarial in spite of every obstacle."

The fact that shorthand was used by such men as Woodrow Wilson, Cortelyou, Eliza Root and others shows that it is not merely a clerk's machine. It is useful to a man in any profession, even to the President of the United States.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

INITIATIVE
WHEN FRANK HANLEY, one of the best paid clerks in the Municipal Criminal Court, resigned his position about two months ago, his friends thought that his venture would not be worth the risk. Hanley, however, became an insurance broker and is waiting prospect.

PROGRESS
Of interest to horse lovers in the revelation from the ANIMAL INDUSTRY DIVISION of the State that glandular, inferior as MASA-CHUSETTS is concerned, has apparently been eradicated. From the most important activity of the division, mainly on account of its transmissibility to man, generally with fatal results, the work has gradually become insignificant.

POPULARITY
"We want some MARITIME LEE Cooks," said three pretty women who are members of MAYOR NEWMAN's office at CITY

HALL
Ordinarily a request from one young lady would hardly leave an impression, but when three chorus at once, it's worth investigation. Two of them admitted that DAN CUPID was in the office. But the third seemed a trifle shy in a hostile position. However, Miss MILDRED MORRIS, ELIZABETH WESTWORTH and BERTHA SPAULDING got the recipes.

HORSEMANSHIP
There's one young man who doesn't envy the life of the cavalryman. He doesn't think so much of the "Prince of Wales" idea of good sport, either. That's TOMMIE GRANTY of Police Headquarters. TOMMIE lost all interest in the saddle sport a week ago. He borrowed a mount at the Army Base and the animal was built for drays instead of the Jamanchway bridge bath. The big bay and TOMMIE didn't get along at all and TOMMIE spent five minutes on the turf for every three minutes of the horse.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

It was time for Jesus to go back to His Father and His heart was heavy. How little they understood His mission, these men who had followed Him for three years. How intelligent and proud they were, though He had given His life to fight intolerance and pride. There was so little time left, but His love must make one more effort.

So He rose from that last supper table and "said aside His garment and took a towel and girded Himself. After that He poured water in a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel wherewith He was girded."

And after He had washed their feet and had taken His garments and sat down again He said unto them—"Know ye what I have done to you? Ye call me Master and Lord and ye say well for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Master have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet. For I have given you an example that ye should do as I have done to you."

I have a friend. His name would be familiar to you, if I mentioned it. For he is nationally famous. One of those outstanding successes for which America is noted. A remarkable physique, a brilliant mind and a magnetic personality. Other men have made such a record with their feet. But he has dominated the newspaper world of America, performing one sensational feat after another. And not only has he used his own power, but he has developed the power in other men.

Surely such a man might have reason to pride. It would even be excusable if he felt a little contempt for those who have hailed him as a hero, rendered where he thought on.

Yet he did something else, the day—

There was another man, a man with a fine mind and a beautiful spirit, but best with an appetite which had dragged him down to shame and darkness. This other man had lived nobly once. But he had fallen. Though many had tried to help him, he had gone down and down. He had become what we call a common drunk.

My friend tried to help him. He took him into his beautiful, peaceful home, and for many months shared all he had with him. The poor, possessed man looks away again. Then one night he came back to his friend's home, fuddled and befuddled, in an agony of drunken horror.

Human suffering is usually pitiful, but there is something about the self-inflicted suffering of drunkenness which disgusts and exasperates most of us. But my friend was not disgusted or exasperated. He did not say—"Go away! I have done everything for you and you are hopeless. You haven't even decent gratitude. You are not fit to be in this place."

Instead, he took him into his own guest room and undressed the poor, reeking body. He lifted him into a warm bath and soothed him, until the ravine between grew quiet. Then he laid him between cold sheets and gave him cigarettes and warm milk and quieting medicine. The twitching and the babbling grew still. The horror faded from the staring eyes. The man slept, with my friend watching beside him. Then in the morning he took him back to those who had him and who would save him.

I heard of this just by accident. It would amaze my friend to be asked for such an act. Can I ever him laugh it off? For he doesn't even say that it's a religious man, it's Robert Browning.
